

EYFS Curriculum Overview. Term: Summer 2

It is flexible to allow for the children's interests and fascinations and to be able to respond to the children's different needs.

Personal, Social and Emotional		Understanding of the World
The topic will further develop their awareness of their own beliefs and cultures, and develop self-motivation and independence in activities. Children will explore feelings surrounding saying goodbye and coping with change and experiences that are new. Through physical activities children will gain an awareness of how the body changes when they are active will be explored.		The topic will explore different types of transport, finding out which ones go up in the air and stay on the ground possibly water based transport will also be explored and investigated. Children will demonstrate their understanding of environmental features through reading and making their own maps. Remote control cars and programmable toys will be explored as well as using the computer to find out topic information.
Expressive Arts and Design	Holidays and moving on	Physical Development
Children will explore how sounds are made through using percussion instruments and be given opportunities to move and dance to music and join in with others. The children will create 3D structures and models using their own ideas and the topic as a stimulus. Use of the imagination will be developed through re-enacting journeys on different modes of transport.		Through topic activities pencil and scissor control will be developed. In PE using balls, hoops and beanbags will develop throwing and catching, and an ability to engage in group games.
Communication, Language and Literacy		Mathematical Development
Children will be encouraged to join in with rhymes and to read repetitive text and extend their vocabulary with topic words. Reception children will begin to write sentences to support their topic work and all children will develop phonic awareness to support reading and writing skills. Role play will further develop speaking and listening skills and enable children to recreate roles and experiences.		The topic will give opportunities to develop counting skills, number recognition and working with numbers in practical contexts. Through exploring things that fly, the concepts higher and lower can be explored. The children will learn about money through roleplay situations e.g counting shells at the beach or play in a travel agent or holiday shop.
